

Winter Pondering

Summer is not the only time to enjoy a pond. A pond changes with the seasons and each season has its own unique characteristics. During the winter months, while the fish are sleeping in the bottom of the pond, the creek and top of the pond come alive with ice formations. If left running all winter you will enjoy the gurgling of water just under the ice and take pleasure in the creation the water makes as it freezes on its way back to the pond. It truly is a magnificent sight!
